Emergency Procedures

The EY Centre has an Emergency Response Plan in place in the event of an emergency situation requiring immediate action. The EY Centre encourages all events to review their planned emergency response procedures with our team one month prior to the start date of their event. Our staff with building security will be the primary responders in the investigation and response to an emergency situation.

Fire Procedure

The EY Centre is equipped with smoke detectors and an overhead sprinkler system. The fire alarm system is a two stage system. During the first stage, staff and security will respond and investigate. There is typically no need to evacuate during a first stage alarm. If necessary, the alarm will progress to the second stage (evacuation mode).

The Ottawa Fire Department will respond immediately upon the activation of the first stage alarm and instructions will be conveyed to all areas of the building via the public address (PA) system.

The EY Centre conducts regular practice of the emergency procedures, as required by law.

First Aid Response - Injury or Illness

The EY Centre staff are trained in First Aid and CPR. A fully equipped first aid room is located in the lobby between the entrances to Halls 1 and 2, with an Automated Electronic Defibrillator on site.

Licensed first-aid personnel must be on duty at any event with an estimated attendance of 1,000 or more people per event day (or for smaller groups if deemed necessary by the EY Centre) . Licensed first-aid personnel are available from the EY Centre's exclusive security provider – Capital Security. Capital Security will invoice the Event directly for their services.

Threat or Other Disturbances

The EY Centre has a response plan for handling threats and other disturbances. This plan is coordinated by EY Centre staff and building security together with local authorities. Show managers and event planners will be advised of any situation and included in the process, if deemed necessary by EY Centre management.
